MEDICAL FUND TAX CERTIFICATE - 2018 TAX YEAR

South African tax laws allow medical expenses incurred during the tax year to be deducted from a taxpayer's taxable income, subject to certain limitations.

Medical Fund contributions

The amount reflected as Contribution on the tax certificate represents all contributions received by the Fund on your behalf for the period 1 March 2017 to 28 February 2018. Contributions paid over by your employer will be reflected on your IRP5.

Interest earned on balances in your Medical Savings Account

The amount reflected as Interest on Medical Savings Account - IT 3(b) on this certificate represents the total amount of interest that you have earned on positive balances in your Medical Savings Account for this tax year.

Medical claims not paid by the Fund

The amount reflected as Total Medical Claims not paid by the Fund on this certificate represents the total value of claims (or portions of claims) submitted to the Fund but not paid by the Fund during the tax year.

Please note that this certificate only includes claims processed by the Fund up to 28 February 2018.

Should you have incurred any medical expenses and have either not submitted these expenses to the Fund, or these expenses were not processed by the Fund as at 28 February 2018 you may include such expenses on your tax return in order for these to be considered for a possible tax deduction.

Beneficiary Details

Included on this tax certificate is a summary of beneficiary details. In terms of the current tax legislation relating to medical expenses the Fund should provide detail on each beneficiary relating to personal details, relationship to the main member, number of months of membership during this tax year and the value of claims not paid by the Fund.

Please consult the South African Revenue Services Income Tax Return Information Brochure or your Income Tax Consultant to determine what portion of the amounts displayed on the tax certificate may be claimed as a deduction.

A copy of your tax certificate will also be made available on the Medscheme website www.medscheme.co.za.

Yours sincerely
